Adaptive Techniques for Dynamic Processor Optimization

This book is about numerous adaptive and dynamic methods used to optimize processor energy and efficiency. It's based mostly on a really profitable discussion board at ISSCC which targeted on Adaptive Techniques.

Adaptive Techniques for Dynamic Processor Optimization

Dynamic Positioning Systems (DPS) are defined as a set of components used to keep a floating vessel on a specific position or on a desired path through the action of propellers.

reference adaptive control (MRAC) technique to DPS's, cascaded with the commonly used adaptive Kalman filter. The model of a dynamically-positioned shuttle tanker exposed to waves and current is employed to highlight the advantages of the adaptive controller compared to commonplace fixed-gain controllers.

The binarization techniques for grayscale documents can be grouped into two broad categories: global binarization and local binarization. Global binarization methods such as one proposed by Otsu [8] try to find a single threshold value for the whole document. Then each pixel is assigned to page foreground or background based on its gray value.

Adaptive learning, also known as adaptive teaching, is an educational method which uses computer algorithms to orchestrate the interaction with the learner and deliver customized resources and learning activities to address the unique needs of each learner. In professional learning contexts, individuals may "test out" of some training to ensure they engage with novel instruction.
