particular, the theory of C^* -algebras, operator K -theory, non-commutative differential geometry, and quantum group theory are well known; these are non-commutative analogs of some substantial branches of general topology, algebraic topology, differential geometry, and group theory, respectively. We are interested in non-commutative complex analysis.

harmonic analysis on G/K . In Sect. 2 we review the relevant material on commutative spaces, Riemannian nil-manifolds, and commutative nilmanifolds. There we recall the Vinberg classification of irreducible commutative nilmanifolds and the Yakimova classification of those that satisfy certain technical conditions.
