This volume exposes the theory of biset functors for finite groups, which yields a unified framework for operations of induction, restriction, inflation, deflation and transport by isomorphism. The first part recalls the basics on biset categories and biset functors. The second part is concerned ...

The last two chapters expose three applications of biset functors to long-standing open problems, in particular the structure of the Dade group of an arbitrary finite p-group. This book is intended both to students and researchers, as it gives a didactic exposition of the basics and a rewriting of advanced results in the area, with some new ...

Biset functors are additive, abelian group valued functors on the biset category, whose objects are finite groups and whose morphism sets are given by the Grothendieck groups  $B(G, H)$  of finite  $(G, H)$ -bisets. The composition is induced by a construction that imitates the tensor product of bimodules.

Abstract: In the previous article 'A Mackey-functor theoretic interpretation of biset functors', we have constructed the 2-category  $\mathbb{S}$  of finite sets with variable finite group actions, in which bicoproducts and bipullbacks exist. As shown in it, biset functors can be regarded as a special class of Mackey functors on  $\mathbb{S}$ .
