The German Palatines were early 18th century emigrants from the Middle Rhine region of the Holy Roman Empire, including a minority from the Palatinate which gave its name to the entire group. Towards the end of the 17th century and into the 18th, the wealthy region was repeatedly invaded by French troops, which resulted in continuous military requisitions, widespread devastation and famine.

By the 16th century the carrot, both in its Wild and Domesticated forms is referenced extensively in ancient Herbals and a selection of these is shown in detail on a separate page here. The carrot in various colours also starts to appear in art works at this time. Art works alone are not considered to be good enough evidence of true colours as the paint colours used are not always true to type ...
