Exploring Spatial Correlations In your first spatial assignment (the ozone one) you assumed the model  $Y = \beta_0 + \beta_1 X + \epsilon$  where  $X$  was a column of 1's (because we don't have covariates) and  $R$  is an  $n$  correlation

Exploring Spatial Scale in Geography provides a conceptual and practical guide to issues of spatial scale in all areas of the physical and social sciences. Scale is at the heart of geography and other spatial sciences. Whether dealing with geomorphological processes, population movements or meteorology, a consideration of spatial scale is vital.

Spatial analysis confronts many fundamental issues in the definition of its objects of study, in the construction of the analytic operations to be used, in the use of computers for analysis, in the limitations and particularities of the analyses which are known, and in the presentation of analytic results.
