The title of this book seems to indicate that the volume is dedicated to a very specialized and narrow area, i. e. , to the relationship between a very special type of optimization and mathematical programming. The contrary is however true. Optimization is certainly a very old and classical area which is of high concern to many disciplines.

Traditionally, there was a distinct difference between optimization in engineering, optimization in management, and optimization as it was treated in mathematical sciences.

fuzzy sets and interactive multiobjective optimization

(4) Compared with the crisp optimization, the proposed interactive fuzzy multi-objective optimization method offers a greater threshold degree for interactive collaboration among the objectives by fuzzy processing of the objectives and constraints.

An interactive fuzzy multi-objective optimization method

No. 1 UNDERSTANDING OF FUZZY OPTIMIZATION: THEORIES AND METHODS 119 optimization problems, models and some well-known methods. The importance of interpretation of the problem and formulation of optimal solution in a fuzzy sense are emphasized.

UNDERSTANDING OF FUZZY OPTIMIZATION: THEORIES AND METHODS

An Interactive Fuzzy Satisficing Method For the MPOP (1), considering the imprecise nature of human judgments, it is quite natural to assume that the decision maker may have a fuzzy goal for each of the objective functions ().

An Interactive Fuzzy Satisficing Method for Multiobjective

apply interactive fuzzy satisficing method proposed by Sakawa et al [13]. In this method, we need to efficiently find an optimal solution for each of the minimax problems with the corresponding reference membership values. We propose to apply particle swarm optimization (PSO) method proposed by Kennedy et al [3].

Interactive Fuzzy Modeling by Evolutionary Multiobjective

The aim of this paper is to present an interactive fuzzy goal programming approach to determine the preferred compromise solution to Tri-level linear programming problems considering the imprecise nature of the decision makers' judgments for the objectives.
