The blue whale (Balaenoptera musculus) is a marine mammal belonging to the baleen whale parvorder, Mysticeti. At up to 29.9 metres (98 ft) in length and with a maximum recorded weight of 173 tonnes (190 short tons), it is the largest animal known to have ever existed. Long and slender, the blue whale's body can be various shades of bluish-grey dorsally and somewhat lighter underneath.

This clip comes from the BBC series The Blue Planet which I can't recommend enough for any armchair naturalist. In the opening scene, we are introduced to "the biggest animal that has ever lived on our planet." The aim of this lesson plan is for students to acquire the language necessary for describing size, weight, height, speed, length, width, etc, while learning about the blue whale.

Healthy marine species like whales, sea turtles, coral, and salmon are important for maintaining balanced and thriving ocean ecosystems. We work to prevent marine species populations from decline and extinction, protect them from human activities, and monitor activities that might impact them so they are around for future generations.
