Life as a Roman gladiator is tough. It is a very violent and often short life. It's clear that You Wouldn't Want to Be a Roman Gladiator! About the Roman Empire and gladiators The predecessor of the Roman Empire was the Roman Republic, which dated from 509 BC ...

You Wouldn't Want to Be a Roman Gladiator!

The life of a Gladiator could be compared to the life of a modern day professional athlete. Gladiators lived a lavish life much greater than the lower class of Ancient Rome. With food, medicine, and baths all at the tip of their fingers, they were to use all their energy and focus to fight against each other.

The losing gladiator, if not killed outright, often appealed for mercy by dropping his weapon and shield and raising a finger. His adversary could then decide to be lenient, although, as there was a significant risk of meeting again in the arena, it was considered good professional practice to kill your opponent.

Roman Gladiator - Ancient History Encyclopedia

The fortress prison also undermines the image of gladiators as traveling from town to town in a circus-like setting, as seen in the movie Gladiator released in 2000. (Another film set in the ...

Life as a gladiator included close attention to personal hygiene, gladiators were frequently massaged and given hot and cold baths. As gladiators lived in close quarters the Medici or Doctor would ensure that the threats of disease and infection were kept to a minimum.

Living Conditions - A Closer Look at Gladiators - Google Sites

The gladiator's life was a very hard one, and often a short one, or at least it ended as being a cripple for many (if not most) of them. I do think that a gladiator dying in the arena was not seen as often as we used to think, but I am not a historian.

What was it like to be a gladiator during Roman times? - Quora

A gladiator (Latin: gladiator, "swordsmen", from gladius, "sword") was an armed combatant who entertained audiences in the Roman Republic and Roman Empire in violent confrontations with other gladiators, wild animals, and condemned criminals. Some gladiators were volunteers who risked their lives and their legal and social standing by appearing ...
