We explain thermopower measurements at a half filled Landau level in GaAs / AlGaAs structures. The phonon-drag thermopower,  $S_g$ , dominates in the whole temperature range we examine here. We describe  $S_g$  by using the standard Cantrell-Butcher theory for  $S_g$  at zero magnetic field within the composite fermion framework.

The book is divided into five parts – the fundamentals of microsystems and nanotechnology, microsystems technology, nanotechnology, application issues, and the developments and prospects – and is a valuable reference for students, teachers and engineers working with the involved technologies.
