Multicriteria Scheduling: Theory, Models and Algorithms

Scheduling and multicriteria optimisation theory have been subject, separately, to numerous studies. Since the last twenty years, multicriteria scheduling problems have been subject to a growing interest. However, a gap between multicriteria scheduling approaches and multicriteria optimisation field exists.

Multicriteria Scheduling Theory Models And Algorithms

In this paper, on the basis of schedule theory common methods, the mathematical model and algorithm are constructed, for which task implementation is possible by single-step multiprocessor system, where processors are mutually half-interchangeable, but set of additional resources and

In this work, we present an agent-based approach to multi-criteria combinatorial optimization. It allows to flexibly combine elementary heuristics that may be optimal for corresponding single-criterion problems. Unable to display preview. Download preview PDF. Unable to display preview. The problem examined is a multicriteria multi-mode resource-constrained project scheduling problem with generalized precedence constraints or time windows. While in previous approaches the problem has been simplified to a single objective counterpart, we tackle it directly by a multicriteria metaheuristic, namely Pareto Simulated Annealing, in order to get a representative approximation of the Pareto front.
