1. Basic concepts 1.1.. Categories of nanostructured materials One of the very basic results of the physics and chemistry of solids is the insight that most properties of solids depend on the microstructure, i.e. the chemical composition, the arrangement of the atoms (the atomic structure) and the size of a solid in one, two or three dimensions.

The state-of-the-art for cathode materials is represented by LiCoO_2 , LiMn_2O_4 , and LiFePO_4 , while graphite is definitely the most used anode, owing to its excellent features, such as flat and low working potential vs. lithium, low cost and good cycle life. However, graphite allows the intercalation (see Fig. 1) of only one Li-ion with six carbon atoms, with a resulting ...

Review on recent progress of nanostructured anode

Nanotechnology ("nanotech") is manipulation of matter on an atomic, molecular, and supramolecular scale. The earliest, widespread description of nanotechnology referred to the particular technological goal of precisely manipulating atoms and molecules for fabrication of macroscale products, also now referred to as molecular nanotechnology. A more generalized description of nanotechnology was ...
