A transformer is a static electrical device that transfers electrical energy between two or more circuits. A varying current in one coil of the transformer produces a varying magnetic flux, which, in turn, induces a varying electromotive force (emf) or "voltage" across a second coil wound around the same core. Electric power can be transferred between the two coils, without a metallic ...

After two thousand years of Jewish hostility toward the Gospel is it possible for Jews to be saved? I say it's next to impossible. But of course, with God, all things are possible. First of all, there is NO special plan for the Jews. Jews, like everybody else, must embrace the Lord Jesus Christ ...

A portable source of light probably started with a cave man carrying a burning stick of wood. There have been many portable light sources based on burning something. Once the dry cell battery became available flashlights became more popular than they were when a lead acid or other wet battery was needed.
