In this sense, any reliable theory about human agency must explain how we can sometimes be deluded about our own agency, but also must account for why we are not deluded all the time.

(PDF) What is the Human Sense of Agency, and is it

Today I found out humans have a lot more than five senses. It turns out, there are at least nine senses and most researchers think there are more like twenty-one or so. Just for reference, the commonly held definition of a “sense” is “any system that consists of a group of sensory cell types ...
