The Lyceum And Public Culture In The Nineteenth Century

The Alexandria Lyceum was founded a year earlier, in 1838, by a group of well-educated local men with an interest in improving public educational and cultural opportunities throughout the community. In 1839, the group joined with the Alexandria Library to construct a new home for both organizations, the building known today simply as The Lyceum.

6 THE TEXAS LYCEUM JOURNAL The Texas Lyceum Journal is traditionally a complement to the annual Lyceum Public Conference. For the 2012 and 2013 publication of the Journal we are doing something slightly different. In addition to the articles that capture the content of the public conferences, we also highlight topics from each of the quarterly meetings.
