In computer architecture, a branch predictor is a digital circuit that tries to guess which way a branch (e.g. an ifâ€“thenâ€“else structure) will go before this is known definitively. The purpose of the branch predictor is to improve the flow in the instruction pipeline. Branch predictors play a critical role in achieving high effective performance in many modern pipelined microprocessor ...

BACKGROUND AND PURPOSE: Hypotension and bradycardia are common in carotid artery stenting (CAS) and are particularly worrisome in the high risk patient who is typically referred for CAS. The purpose of this work was to assess the incidence and predictors of hypotension and bradycardia and the risk of their delayed occurrence after CAS.

Current dietary supplement use in Australia is not well described. We investigated the prevalence and predictors of supplement use in the Australian population (n = 19,257) using data from the 2014â€“2015 National Health Survey. We reported the prevalence of supplement use by sex and age group and investigated the independent predictors of supplement use in adults, adolescents, and children ...

Cardiac troponin T (cTnT) and troponin I (cTnI) are structural proteins that act to regulate muscle contraction 1, 2. They are released into the bloodstream from injured muscle cells during cardiac ischemia with no overlap with skeletal muscle troponins under normal conditions 3, 4. Multiple studies have demonstrated that both cTnI and cTnT are important prognostic indicators in patients ...
