Affirmation of self-integrity, unrelated to a specific provoking threat, can attenuate or eliminate people's normal response to that threat. If it does, then one can infer that the response was motivated by a desire to protect self-integrity. The self-affirmation framework encompasses four tenets, which are enumerated below: 1.

THE PSYCHOLOGY OF SELF DEFENSE: SELF AFFIRMATION THEORY

The book also explores how the notion of the self emerges in Epicurus's struggle to express the individual perspective of oneself in the process of one's holistic self-reflection as an individual psychophysical being.

the self as an object does not enter, and an activity of memory and imagination in which the self is the principal object. The self is then entirely distinguishable from an organism that is surrounded by things and acts with reference to things, including parts of its own body.

THE SELF George Herbert Mead - Santa Monica College

Chapter Seven Understanding "Self" I begin this chapter with an analysis of self-concept. I have reviewed how self-concept is organized and the role the parents, teachers and peers play in the shaping the self-concept of children. Additionally, I have identified the key factors that facilitate self-concept and

Chapter Seven Understanding "Self" - Action Research

Charles Taylor's Sources of the Self has at least two objectives. On the one hand, it traces the historical sources of the modern understanding of selfhood. On the other hand, and perhaps more important, Sources of the Self aims to contribute to the reconstruction of that same understanding of selfhood.
