"Processing time" is the only appropriate time to follow the two-minute rule. This is where the two-minute rule begins, because it's the time you are working your System. If, during "processing time," you think of something that needs to be done and it will take you two minutes or less, that is the time to do it, because it will take you that much time to enter it into your System, anyway.

You're Doing the 2 Minute Rule of Time Management Wrong

You cannot count all minutes of treatment in a day toward the units for one code if other services were performed for more than 15 minutes (see examples 2 and 3 below). When more than one service represented by 15 minute timed codes is performed in a single day, the total number of minutes of service determines the number of timed units billed based on the 8 Minute Rule Chart.
