Shell and Tube Heat Exchanger type exchangers are used in many process industries, as well as nuclear power stations as condensers, steam generators in pressurised water reactor power plants, and feed water heaters. They are also used in many other applications i.e. air conditioning and refrigeration systems.

The main purposes of a HVAC-system are to help maintain good indoor air quality through adequate ventilation and to provide thermal comfort. Cooling or heat rejection of air-conditioning systems is based on thermodynamic principles and involves heat transfer between fluids.

Seawater cooled HVAC-system | Applications

Ocean thermal energy conversion (OTEC) uses the temperature difference between cooler deep and warmer shallow or surface seawaters to run a heat engine and produce useful work, usually in the form of electricity. OTEC can operate with a very high capacity factor and so can operate in base load mode.. Among ocean energy sources, OTEC is one of the continuously available renewable energy ...

Corrosion is a natural process, which converts a refined metal to a more chemically-stable form, such as its oxide, hydroxide, or sulfide. It is the gradual destruction of materials (usually metals) by chemical and/or electrochemical reaction with their environment. Corrosion engineering is the field dedicated to controlling and stopping corrosion.. In the most common use of the word, this ...

The most widely used chemical precipitation technique is hydroxide precipitation due to its relative simplicity, low cost and ease of pH control (Huisman et al., 2006). The solubilities of the various metal hydroxides are minimized in the pH range of 8.0–11.0.
